

The Business Case for Diversity and Beyond: Developing Consciously Inclusive Leaders

As our society continues to grow increasingly diverse, it is imperative that organizations work to create a workplace culture that demonstrates a commitment to diversity, inclusion, and equity. This interactive workshop will examine fundamental concepts and theories that will help lay the foundation to develop change agents who are committed to creating an inclusive and equitable organizational culture within your organization. This workshop will be both an awareness building and skill building educational experience that can help develop champions of diversity and inclusion. Participants of this workshop will walk away with increased self awareness, knowledge, and a shared language that can help move diversity and inclusion initiatives and programming forward within the organization and help create a more inclusive employee experience.
